We wonder how the President's coming message will deal with those post office frauds.

We wish we could please all the friends of all the candidates, but we can't, and that settles it.

Alachua is—in many respects—the most prosperous county in Florida, and we don't care who knows it.

Even the Governor is not very favorably impressed with the very poor progress Mr. Jennings is making in the Senatorial race.

Some of our exchanges opine that candidates should pay more for their advertising, and with those exchanges we agree.

The Jacksonville Trades Carnival—the first week in November—will doubtless be a big thing for Jacksonville's business men.

We do not believe the friends of ex-Senator Call would like to see him enter the Senatorial race at this time. No one likes to see his friend suffer defeat.

The Lakeland Sun says there are people who believe Senator Tallaferra. Lookout brother; you may be "cused of using "unparliamentary" language.

There is talk of war between Japan and Russia. It may look like a big undertaking for Japan, but if the war comes there will be no fun in it for Russia.

What of it if President Roosevelt does carry a pistol? Doesn't Hettie Green carry one also? And she could buy the whole Roosevelt family several times over.

An exchange says "Florida has several political 'bushwhackers' who certainly need a slush fund," but fails to name them. It ought to name the "bushwhackers."

The fellow who tries to do the right thing in the right way and makes a mistake, is worth a cow pen full of the fellows who avoid making mistakes by doing nothing.

Today the local option election is being held in Nassau county. The advocates of the liquor traffic and the advocates of peace and prosperity are measuring arms, and we sincerely hope that the right will win.

Of course when a man becomes a candidate the newspapers are expected to drop the "Mr." and use "Hon." when speaking of him, and in view of this fact Florida editors should order a lot of extra upper case "H's."

Hon. James E. Broome has returned from New York and is getting among the voters. Wherever Broome goes he makes votes. Senator Broome has been in Gainesville several days, and he is meeting with much encouragement. The Senator would make an ideal Secretary of State, and he certainly deserves all he is asking for.

Stockton could not speak to every voter in the district when he was at Punta Gorda, but his enemies have so advertised him that the horny handed sons of toil are beginning to call for the Punta Gorda speech, and it is now scattered all over Florida in pamphlet form, and is being read by thousands who never would have heard of it but for Stockton's enemies, and it is certainly a vote maker for Stockton.

A few people, whose nature is to ridicule everything that pertains to religion, have ridiculed the Salvation Army for going into the fude districts of Kentucky armed with Bibles to conquer a lawless people whom sheriffs and guns have failed to conquer, but it is beginning to be admitted by the press of the country that the Salvation Army is doing more to put down crime among the Kentucky mountain fudists than any number of soldiers could do.

NO DIFFERENCE.

The Gainesville Star comments on our article in last week's issue as follows:
"We disagree with the DeLand News when it says 'One blind tiger ruins more boys than a dozen open saloons.' The open saloon ruins more boys and men than the blind tiger does. Not everyone who will patronize an open saloon will patronize a blind tiger, and not everyone who can gain admission into an open saloon can gain admission into a blind tiger. The open saloon is the most dangerous, but a person who runs a blind tiger is not only doing a bad business, but he is doing it in violation of law, and will lie about it when about to be apprehended; therefore we repeat (and we have no apologies to offer for it) that a white man who will run a blind tiger is meaner and far more dangerous, than is the negro crap shooter."

To all of this the News agrees. But, in the opinion of the writer, drinking liquor to excess is a disease, a most abominable habit, and a great misfortune to the drinker as well as to his family. But does not the blind tiger manufacture a race of liars and law-evaders? Are not these worse than the poor unfortunates who succumb to the curse of drink? Just as soon as public sentiment condemns the sale of liquor, it must stop. So long as public sentiment condones liquor drinking it will continue, whether a county is "wet" or "dry."—DeLand News.

The News agrees with THE STAR, and THE STAR agrees with the News, so what, and where is the difference? We were berated by the Pensacola News for saying a blind tiger operator is lower than a negro crap shooter, and that paper quoted the DeLand News as discussing the question in a more sensible manner. We replied to the Pensacola News, and told wherein we disagreed with the DeLand News. The Pensacola News hadn't the courage to reply to our reply, but the DeLand News quoted from the reply and was frank and honest enough to say of it "To all of this the News agrees," etc. Now, to all the DeLand News says, we agree. We too, believe that drinking liquor to excess is a disease, but we believe also that the disease—like a great many of other diseases—is brought on by the carelessness or bad acts of those who become diseased. We believe that nothing short of the religion of Jesus Christ will cure the disease in very many cases, after the patient has become thoroughly sick, and God knows we sympathize with the drunkard.

We agree that the blind tiger manufactures "a race of liars and law-evaders," and we know that the saloon does the same thing. We know that there are more blind tigers in a community where licensed saloons exist than where there are no licensed saloons, for certainly nine-tenths of the liquor peddled out by negroes and low down white men is furnished by the proprietors of licensed saloons, if it were not so who can believe that proprietors of licensed saloons would stand ever ready to go on the bonds of men convicted of selling liquor illegally? The licensed saloonists are the ready bondsmen for the blind tigers, and if they were not partners in the crime surely they would not come to the assistance of unlawful competitors.

A blind tiger operator is a person who sells liquor without a license. No man is licensed to sell on Sunday, election days, to minors or to intoxicated persons, and every one who so sells is a blind tiger operator. Where there are no licensed saloons to hide behind, illegal selling is more noticeable but there are fewer blind tigers where there are no licensed saloons.

We agree that when public sentiment condemns the sale of liquor "it must stop," the same as murder, and other crimes stop—not entirely, but to a large degree—and public sentiment has condemned the sale of it in this county, as was shown by the result of our wet and dry election in June last, and the sale is stopping as fast as other crimes stop when the law says stop.

Just remember this, our brother, of the DeLand News: If the majority of blind tigers were not licensed saloon annexes, the saloon man would not go on the blind tiger's bond.

The man who favors licensing saloons at all, should not kick against having a saloon next door to his home or place of business. Such dens of infamy must be close to somebody—if they exist at all—and the men who are responsible for their existence should not complain if they are located near them.

Let the court and juries do their duty and thus prevent many lynchings.

CARDINAL VIRTUES.

The Ocala Banner claims "fairness as one of its cardinal virtues," but if fairness is a cardinal virtue with the Banner it certainly fails to show it on some occasions. The Banner has been snapping at THE STAR like a fice at a mule's heels for some time. The editor of the Banner has been claiming to be deeply interested in what he seems to think is a great crime that has been committed in Alachua county. He has had much to say about the Brake-Callison affair. He has been crying with a loud voice against Callison and Alachua county, and has tried to lead his readers to believe that THE STAR has failed to expose a great crime, but when THE STAR published last Friday the fact that the charges had been investigated by the Law and Order League of Gainesville, and by two bodies of Alachua county grand jurymen, and that each of the bodies failed to find any evidence against Callison, the Banner refused to state the fact to its readers. We also informed Editor Harris that the man who wrote one of the letters about which he is ranting is Brakes, attorney, but the noble Harris refused also to give this information to his readers.

If the editor of the Ocala Banner wants to be fair and honorable why does he not let the public know that the case in Alachua county about which he has had so much to say was investigated by the grand jury—not once only but twice—and that he was exonerated by those sworn bodies of Alachua county citizens? Why was he unwilling to say to his readers whom he had been trying to prejudice against a citizen of Alachua county—that according to an Alachua county newspaper—the case had been investigated by the proper authorities, and that no cause for indictment was found? If the Banner editor is not hired to do so why should he ignore the sworn testimony of thirty-six of as good citizens as are in Alachua county, and by his continual contemptible harping virtually say that these men were all perjurers, and the Law and Order League was composed of men who endorse murder, while the County Commissioners of Alachua county are a body of men who wink at murder, and are, therefore, no better than murderers?

Had Editor Harris been a fair man he would have let his readers know that the Callison case had been investigated more thoroughly than any murder case was ever investigated in Marion county. He would also have let his readers know that the Bedell letter he put in their homes was written not by a disinterested citizen, but by an attorney in the case. Has Editor Harris acted fairly in this matter? We leave the question with his own neighbors and friends, and we fear not the result of their answer.

BETTER KEEP QUIET.

When John N. C. Stockton made the remark that a certain paper had sought to fleece him out of a bank roll for its editorial influence, he told the unequivocal and positive truth. The Tribune has been mortified at reading the contents of that letter, and it was also gratified to read a copy of Mr. Stockton's reply, which, in a generous and magnanimous manner, told the young editor that he was not in the newspaper business, and regretted his inability to comply with his request, but referred him to his opponent, who desired and needed all of the purchasable support that he could get. In a few weeks, however, the policy of the said paper was changed and now Mr. Stockton is getting the rough end of the deal, and unless things change very materially, the Tribune would not be surprised to see that letter in print. The guilty party had better keep quiet.—Tampa Morning Tribune.

The Congressional race in the Second district will be the hottest ever experienced there. Watch Clark and Dougherty come down the stretch neck-and-neck. There will be no Barrs in their way.—The Florida Cracker.

Certainly "there will be no Barrs in their way." How could Barrs, who will be a mile ahead, be "in the way?" Jim Alexander will be raising the dust in the intervening space—between the leading Barrs and following Clark and Dougherty—but he will be far enough ahead of the neck-and-neck pair to be out of their way.

More than half the murders and crimes of violence, of which Italy ranks first among all nations of Europe, are attributed to alcoholic excesses.—Bartow Courier-Information.

Mr. Carpenter in his speech said communications to the press from advocates of the saloon were always anonymous. They have been so here so far in the campaign.—Nassau County Star.

Editor Jordan returned from New York Wednesday night and will be ready the coming week to resume the argument with Brothers Hawk and Godwin, if they wish.—Punta Gorda Herald, Oct. 9.

The Jacksonville carnival managers are amusing themselves and the Jacksonville public by inviting all the "crowned heads" and uncrowned rulers of the universe to attend the festivities.—Pensacola Press.

Eight hundred dollars were found sewed up in an old man's pants at Bartow, after he was dead. It won't be any use to look through ours after we are gone—that man wasn't an editor.—Citrus County Chronicle.

Hon. W. M. Holloway, superintendent of public instruction for Alachua county, will run for State superintendent. He is a good and capable man, which fact, being well known, will make him a strong candidate.—Punta Gorda Herald.

The people of this section desire to have a successful educator rather than an experienced political wire-puller in the office as state school superintendent, and for this reason they are going to support Mr. Holloway.—Palatka Times-Herald.

The Gainesville Star, commenting on the position of the Index, says: "That's the way to talk it; Brother Appleyard. If the newspapers and officials will do their duty there will be but little drunkenness and rowdiness in Lake City."—Lake City Index.

Stockton is gaining ground every day. It is reported on good authority that he will get at least two-thirds of the votes in Hillsboro county. He has a clean record, has always been for the people, and the voters are going to remember this.—Madison Recorder.

"Those editors who have credited Mr. Stockton with saying a whole lot of ridiculous things at Punta Gorda which he did not say will find themselves convicted by the people who are reading the Stockton speech in full. Truth is mighty and will prevail.—Polk County News.

When the time comes for Mr. Taliaferro to choose between the great common people and the great corporations—should that time come before he is retired—where will he stand? Mr. Taliaferro is not far enough removed from corporation influences. The people will choose his successor.—Monticello News.

"Barrs, the Jacksonville statesman and politician has a fine chance to go to Congress from his district. There being so many candidates in the race, well known and astute political prognosticators predict his overwhelming election. There is no doubt about the gentleman's ability and being a fine mixer and a polished gentleman, he is gaining friends and supporters every day.—Tampa Morning Tribune.
